He did not want her driving due to her having an alcoholic beverage earlier that night. as they argued he began to get more upset and pushed her to the ground. V1 got back to her feet and began to yell at him. He then pushed her again onto the couch and punched her in the face one time. Her nose immediately started bleeding and Holford apologized for what he did. He stated it was an accident and helped her clean her nose. She left home to Lompoc about 20 minutes later and went to the hospital. V1 sent me photographs of her injuries to my work email. It showed redness on the left side of her cheek, dry blood on her nose and mouth and a bruise forming under her left eye. On 4-2-22, at about 2250 hours, I was dispatched to a confidential location in the city of Santa Maria for a domestic violence fight. Upon my arrival the male suspect (Daniel Rodriguez) had left the scene in his vehicle. V1 told me the following. She was taking a shower and S1 entered the bathroom. He entered the shower and V1 noticed he was possibly under the influence of a controlled substance. He wanted to have sex, but she did not. She asked him to remove a knot in her hair. He began to pull on the knot in her hair, but V1 advised S1 began to escalate the amount of force used. She felt as he was going to rip the hair out of her head. When she attempted to leave, he told her, "were not done yet, sit down." She felt as if she could not freely leave. She then noticed S1 had tied the door shut with the curling iron cord. She then got up from sitting down and S1 grabbed her hair. At this time V1 scratched his stomach and grabbed his testicles in attempts to escape. S1 grabbed a black colored folding knife which he had brought into the bathroom. He pointed it just inches from V1's stomach and told her she was 'lucky." V1's dependent adult sister heard the commotion from in the hotel common area. She knocked on the door and advised she needed to use the bathroom. S1 opened the door and V1 was able to escape out of the room. No visible injuries were located but V1 had a complaint of pain. S1 has not been contacted for his statement.

On 04/01/22, at approximately 2225 hours, I was dispatched to 406 W. Taylor St. on report of a domestic fight that has just occurred. SMPD Communications advised that the reporting party was a Spanish-speaking female. The reporting party advised that she had been hit by her boyfriend several times. I arrived on scene a short amount of time later and contacted the victim who advised the suspect Benito Hernandez Romero had fled the scene in his vehicle (CA plate 6MAN010).

The victim does not know Romero's current whereabouts or where he would go. The victim and Romero have been in a dating relationship for the last three years. They have no children in common and recently moved in together about two months ago. The victim has two small girls that reside with her from a previous relationship. Both children were present during the incident. Both the children were asleep and did not witness the crime.

Romero arrived home just prior to the incident and he was intoxicated. Romero approached the victim and asked where his wallet was and the victim replied, that she did not know where his wallet was. They began to argue and Romero became agitated and punched the victim on the left side of her face and forehead three times. This occurred in their bedroom. The victim picked up her cellphone and called SMPD to report the altercation and she walked out of the room into the driveway of the residence outside.

Romero followed the victim outside and punched her in the head approximately five more times before the victim was able to contact SMPD Communications. Romero also strangled the victim after he punched the victim according to the victim. Romero put one of his hands around her neck (unsure which hand) and began to squeeze with the intensity of a 5 or 6 on a scale of 1 to 10 according to the victim. The victim was strangled for approximately seven to ten seconds before the victim was able to grab Romero's hand and pull it from her neck.

The victim then threatened to call SMPD at which time Romero told her "go ahead call them". The victim advised that she never lost consciousness or had difficulty breathing while Romero was strangling her. The victim reporting being scared and thought Romero was trying to seriously hurt her. The victim was able to finally call 911 and report the incident at which point Romero got into his vehicle and drove away in an unknown direction away from the scene.

The victim sustained visible injuries from the assault upon her. She exhibited swollen bumps on her forehead and irritation to her neck suggesting she had been grabbed around her neck recently. The victim declined an Emergency Protection Order on scene. The victim reported to me while on scene one previous domestic violence incident where Romero had punched her that went unreported.

If Romero is contacted arrest for 245(a)(1) PC and attempt to get a statement from him after providing him with his Miranda advisement.
